Aims and Scope

The Water Quality Research Journal of Canada is a quarterly publication. It is a forum for original research dealing with the aquatic environment, and should report new and significant findings that advance the understanding of the field. Articles from outside of Canada are welcome provided that they are of interest to the Canadian water quality research community. The journal publishes peer-reviewed, scholarly articles on the following general subject areas:

- Impact of contaminants on aquatic ecosystems
- Contributions of pollutants from the gas and solid phases to aquatic systems
- Drinking water, wastewater and stormwater treatment technologies and strategies
- Exotic species, biodiversity, and aquatic species at risk
- Groundwater remediation
- Assessment of surface and subsurface water quality
- Regulations, strategies and policies related to water pollution
- Conservation and protection of aquatic environments
- Social science issues in relation to water quality
- Review articles on all aspects of water quality and pollution control
