Alims and Scope

The Water Quality Research Journal publishes peer-reviewed, scholarly articles on the following general subject areas:

- Impact of current and emerging contaminants on aquatic ecosystems
- Aquatic ecology (zoobenthology and ecophysiology, invasive species, biodiversity, and aquatic species at risk)
- Conservation and protection of aquatic environments
- Responsible resource development and water quality (mining, forestry, hydropower, oil and gas)
- Drinking water, wastewater and stormwater treatment technologies and strategies

- Impacts and solutions of diffuse pollution (urban and agricultural runoff) on water quality
- Industrial water quality
- Used water: Reuse and resource recovery
- Assessment of surface and subsurface water quality
- Groundwater quality (management, remediation, fracking, legacy contaminants)
- Regulations, economics, strategies and policies related to water quality
- Social science issues in relation to water quality
- Water quality in remote areas
- Water quality in cold climates

The Water Quality Research Journal is a quarterly publication. It is a forum for original research dealing with the aquatic environment, and should report new and significant findings that advance the understanding of the field. Critical review articles are especially encouraged.
